

ANGEL OTERO AT LEHMANN MAUPIN (NEW YORK AND HONG KONG)

Brooklyn-based Angel Otero is having a busy fall and winter. Works by the 36-year-old Puerto Rican-born artist are showcased in Angel Otero: Elegies at the Bronx Museum until April 29. You'll find abstract, colorful, rough-edged pieces of painted fabric and oilskin on view there, homages to Robert Motherwell, one of the great masters of collage. At the fair, Lehmann Maupin will be showing similar new works, including At Five in the Afternoon and Wind Water Stone. Between the Bronx show and the fair, you have two chances to get to know a young talent who's bound to generate a lot of buzz.

