The Bare Facts

Hardly anyone would call me “Mr. NFT,” so it may come as a surprise that after going to the grand opening of Beeple Studios in Charleston that I’m drinking the Kool Aid. Partially a “museum” of Mike Winkelmann’s work over the last 25 years (from the Everydays series to paintings) and partially an exhibition space for other digital artists, it just works.

Beeple may still be a rare bird in his field but I’m not the only art world elitist buying into it (not literally since I own none). Still not sold? We encourage you to go and experience the new museum for yourself.

The Baer Faxt+
