

WNYC

December 9, 2010

This Week: Must See Arts in the City

Carolina A. Miranda

Law of the Jungle, at Lehmann Maupin in Chelsea. Brazilian artist Tiago Carneiro da Cunha has gathered together a diverse group of international artists—from Brazilian street artists Os Gemeos to the coldly geometric Brit Liam Gillick—to explore the idea of survival. Expect painting, installation and a pair of sculpted hands with eyeballs in them. Should be interesting. Opens Thursday at 6 P.M., in Manhattan.